With the start of Spring, the Winter 2018 term comes to a close. We look back fondly on the memories made and lessons learned over the last 3 months.

This term we welcomed 3 wonderful new brothers to the house: Jack Dembovsky, Tim Atchinson, and Kyle Redies. These ambitious new brothers have claimed 8 minor positions among themselves, and have already expressed interest in greater leadership within the house.

Alongside pledging, Zeta Theta A also ran a formal Winter Rush as we are always striving to grow. We ran events including weekly study nights, game night, and a bonfire.

While pledging and rushing left us busy, our house still had a wonderful and productive term. We held our third annual White Rose Ball, reached new heights of success in philanthropy, and secured a championship in Intramurals.

WHITE ROSE BALL

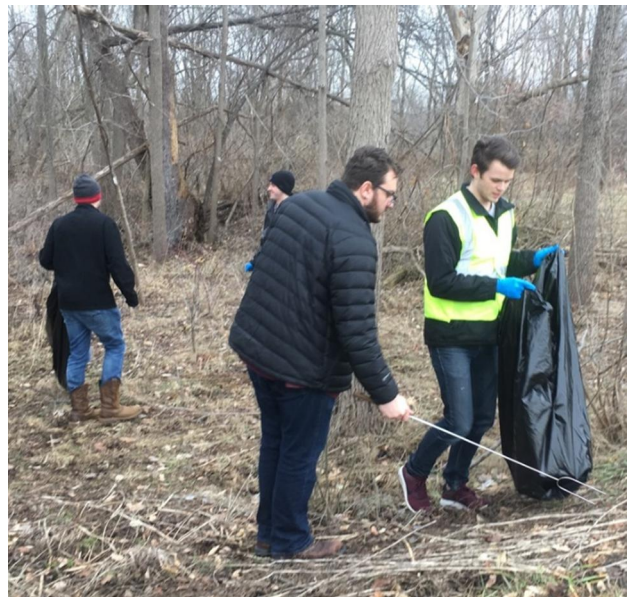

Led by our Tribune, we hosted our third annual White Rose Ball on February 17th in Sterling Heights. The White Rose Ball is a great opportunity for the active brothers to catch up with the alumni and build a stronger brotherhood. Brothers and their guests enjoyed a night of dancing, good food, and good memories. Our returning MCs, alumni brothers Dan Hedger and Conor Barry, passed out the awards for our mock elections, with categories including: the Duct Tape Award, Best Beard, and Best Father Figure.

We are extremely proud to announce that for the 2017-2018 year, we raised $20,054.49 for the Huntsman Cancer Foundation and $300 for the Sigma Chi Foundation. Our Philanthropy Chairs and Derby Daddies lead us to great success and innovated many new fundraising methods that will help us continue to succeed in philanthropy. These events included a Detroit Tigers Outing, a golf outing, and an on-campus 5k that drew fantastic alumni involvement.

The brothers of Zeta Theta A are always working to give back to the Flushing and Flint communities. We each aim to perform at least 12 hours of community service every 6 months, and as a house managed to perform 455.25 total hours of service, over 15 hours per brother. In Flint, we held a Road Side Clean-Up Event on Flushing Road, splitting into teams to clean 2.4 miles of road.

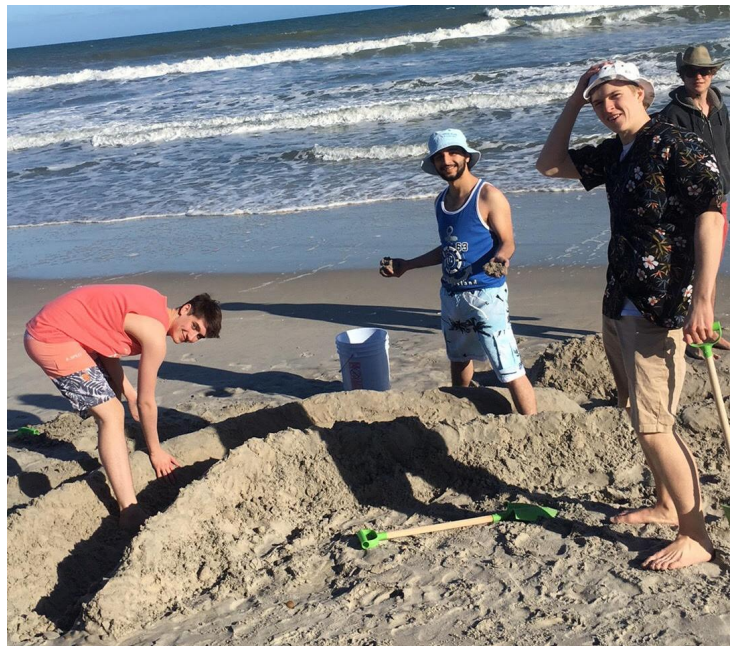

In Flushing, we again volunteered to help set up and manage the Shillelagh Run, a 4-mile race hosted in Flushing just blocks away from home. Runners included local Kettering faculty and alumni brother Casey Masters.

In Intramurals, we had great success in basketball and in water polo, and found ourselves the champions of R-tourney basketball. We hoped to continue our reign of terror as 2-term champions of water polo, however the season was sadly cancelled halfway through.

Over the term, board games took off in popularity. A game of Settlers of Catan or Betrayal at House on the Hill found their way into the library multiple times a week. Even during finals week, you could always find a game going, looking for additional members.

For our annual spring break trip 13 brothers found their way down to Surf City, North Carolina. Along the way some brothers found themselves stuck in snow covered mountains, while others stopped in D.C. for photos. In Surf City brothers filled their days with fishing, sand castle building, and long walks on the beach. Some intrepid alumni took some time out of their busy schedules to fly down and enjoy an exciting, seafood-filled time with us.

This term we continued our excellent representation on campus, and forged stronger bonds with the other Greek organizations of Kettering. Our brothers are found in all areas of leadership on campus: as the Sophomore Representative within student government, the IFC philanthropy chair, and on the executive committees of numerous clubs including GEO club, Pre-Med Club, the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and the Kettering Entrepreneur Society, among many others.

The brothers of Fiji host an annual philanthropic 3v3 basketball tournament in honor of their brother Stephen Root, who passed away after fighting brain cancer 4 years ago. This year, the brothers of Fiji donated the entirety of the $800 that they had raised to help support our B-section brother Dylan Hett, who is currently fighting brain cancer. The brothers of Zeta Theta A were deeply moved by the actions of Fiji and presented them with this award.

Finally, Zeta Theta-A bids farewell to the following graduating brother:
